

Additional Funds Allocated For Conservation Program

The Department of Agriculture has allocated an additional $162,000 to Kentucky for the Emergency Agricultural Conservation Program. The new allocation brings to $500,000 funds made available this year to Kentucky farmers for rehabilitation of conservation measures on their farms damaged or destroyed by heavy rains and flood in 1957. The cost-sharing work is authorized in 31 Eastern and Western counties, and the new amount will enable this work to be continued on farms where restoration of conservation practices has been delayed.

Senator Cooper successfully urged a special appropriation for the flood-recovery work last year. This year he introduced a bill to extend beyond June 30 basic authority for the program, which was extended by the Congress. Without that extension, many Kentucky farmers who wished to take part in the program could not have received cost-sharing payments for work completed after that date.

The $500,000 in emergency ACP funds is in addition to the State's 1958 allocation for the regular Agricultural Conservation Program, amounting to $7,134,000—largest since 1947. Senator Cooper also worked for the full appropriation for that program this year, which had been budgeted at less than half the figure of previous years.

Work done under Emergency ACP includes such things as bulldozing sand and gravel off flooded fields, filling potholes, repairing broken terraces or washed-out farm ponds, cleaning silt-filled ditches, and repairing other damaged conservation works where farmers had already established approved soil and water saving practices.

Counties eligible for the program include: Ballard, Caldwell, Calloway, Carlisle, Crittenden, Daviess, Fulton, Graves, Henderson, Hickman, Livingston, Marshall, McCracken, Ohio and Webster in Western Kentucky. Eastern Kentucky counties include: Bell, Breathitt, Clay, Floyd, Harlan, Johnson, Knott, Knox, Lee, Leslie, Letcher, McCreary, Magoffin, Perry, Pike and Whitley.

A Home That Gives A Feeling of Spaciousness

Even from the outside, this home has a certain feeling of spaciousness. The straight forward lines, with deep overhang, ledge rock planting box along the outer nearly flat roof, open carport, all contribute to that spacious feeling.

Upon entering one really feels the full impact of "Open Planning" in the room layout.

The living room "steals the show" not only with its large center "island" which contains the large ledge stone fireplace, furnace, water heater and broom closet for a money-wise as well as a bit of utilitarian planning, but also with its dramatic floor-to-roof the view window. The high studio ceiling gives a further impression of free-flowing spaciousness. Note the beautiful multipane window in the dining area, shown in the elevation.

Functional efficiency is key-noted in the large, square kitchen with convenient placement of the stove, refrigerator, handy snack bar and laundry facilities in the basementless plan shown here.

Two bedrooms with large wardrobe closets and central bath comprise the sleeping wing. And—note the convertible study which can serve as a third bedroom if desired. For the budget minded who desire the most in convenient living with an air of luxury, this plan is worthy of consideration. If desired, the house can also be built with a basement as building plans include both layouts.

This plan conforms to general F.H.A. VA and Building requirements. The plan contains 1,008 sq. ft., 9,419 cu. ft. without basement, 17,060 cu. ft. with basement and 308 sq. ft. for the carport. Your builder or material supplier can give you the average cost per square or cubic foot in your area.

A RESOLUTION OF THE BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS OF THE CITY OF HAZARD, KENTUCKY, PROVIDING FOR AN ELECTION TO BE HELD IN SAID CITY ON NOVEMBER 4, 1958, FOR THE PURPOSE OF ASCERTAINING WHETHER THE QUALIFIED VOTERS OF SAID CITY WILL AUTHORIZE THE INCURRING OF INDEBTEDNESS IN THE PRINCIPAL SUM OF $525,000.00, TO BE EVIDENCED BY THE ISSUANCE OF SAID CITY'S GENERAL OBLIGATION BONDS FOR THE PURPOSE OF PROVIDING SEWER IMPROVEMENTS, INCLUDING A SEWAGE TREATMENT PLANT, AND ALL EXPENSES INCURRED THEREIN.

WHEREAS, it is the opinion of the Mayor and members of the Board of Commissioners of the City of Hazard that the protection and conservation of the public health, safety, and general welfare of the citizens of Hazard, Kentucky, and its environs, urgently require the immediate construction of a sewage treatment plant and other sewer facilities and improvements, and that the same should be undertaken and financed to the fullest extent which may be provided without exceeding the said City's limit of indebtedness as prescribed by Section 158 of the Constitution of Kentucky; and

WHEREAS, the cost of such facilities, and the expenses incurred thereon, cannot be paid without exceeding the income and revenue provided for the City for any one fiscal year, and it is therefore necessary to determine whether the voters of said City will approve and authorize the incurring of an indebtedness in the manner provided by Section 157 of the Constitution of Kentucky;

NOW, THEREFORE, THE BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS OF THE CITY OF HAZARD, KENTUCKY, DOES HEREBY RESOLVE, AS FOLLOWS:

An election is hereby called and shall be held in the City of Hazard, Kentucky, on November 4, 1958, in conjunction with the regular elections scheduled by law to be held on that date, for the purpose of ascertaining whether the qualified voters of said City will approve and authorize the incurring by said City of an indebtedness not to exceed in principal amount the sum of $525,000.00, the same to be evidenced by the issuance of General Obligation Bonds of said City, for the payment of which, when due, both principal and interest, the full faith, credit and resources of said City would be pledged; the purpose of said indebtedness being to provide all or a part of the costs of constructing sewer improvements including a sewage treatment plant, and expenses incident thereto.

Section 2. The question which shall appear on the ballots used in said election shall be, as follows:

"Shall the City of Hazard incur indebtedness in the sum of Five Hundred Twenty-five Thousand Dollars ($525,000.00) and issue and sell therefor its General Obligation Bonds, payable as to both principal and interest from unlimited taxation, for the purpose of paying all or part of the costs of providing sewer improvements, including a sewage treatment plant, and all expenses incident thereto?"

Section 4. The City Clerk shall cause to be published in The Hazard Herald, a bi-weekly newspaper published each Monday and Thursday in Hazard, Kentucky, beginning with the issue of said newspaper of Oct. 16, 1958, and continuing in each issue published thereafter until said election date, a notice in substantially the following form:

NOTICE OF ELECTION

"Public notice is hereby given that an election has been called and will be held in the City of Hazard, Kentucky, on November 4, 1958, in conjunction with the regular elections scheduled by law to be held on said date, for the purpose of ascertaining whether the qualified voters of said City will approve and authorize the incurring of an indebtedness by said City in the principal sum of $525,000.00, to be evidenced by the issuance of said City's General Obligation Bonds, payable from unlimited taxation, for the purpose of paying all or part of the costs of sewer improvements, including a sewage treatment plant, and expenses incident thereto.

If the incurring of said indebtedness is approved by the requisite two-thirds majority as required by Section 157 of the Constitution of Kentucky, provision will be made by the Board of Commissioners for the issuance of such bonds and sale thereof at one or more advertised, public, competitive sales. If said bonds are approved and issued, the City will be mandatorily required by Section 159 of the Constitution of Kentucky to provide for the levying of a special and separate annual tax upon all property subject to taxation for city purposes sufficient to provide for the payment of the principal of and interest on said bonds as they become due.

The question which will be submitted on the ballots at said election will be, as follows: "Shall the City of Hazard incur indebtedness in the sum of Five Hundred Twenty-five Thousand Dollars $525,000.00 and sell therefor its General Obligation Bonds, payable as to both principal and interest from unlimited taxation, for the purpose of paying all or part of the costs of providing sewer improvements, including a sewage treatment plant, and all expenses incident thereto?"

Commissioner Is Also Farmer

Mack Walters

Rural Highway Commissioner

Kentucky's commissioner of rural highways, Mack G. Walters, is a son of a well-known farmer, the late Harry F. Walters, one-time commissioner of agriculture and member of the General Assembly.

The son, born Dec. 18, 1916, on a Shelby County farm in the Simpsonville neighborhood, is engaged in extensive business interests, including two large farms and a tobacco auction warehouse.

He attended school at Simpsonville and was graduated from the Citadel in South Carolina in 1939. A veteran of WW II, he was discharged from the artillery with the rank of captain in 1945.

When his father died, Mack Walters was appointed to the Board of Agriculture and later became a member of the Highway Advisory Commission.

Walters is an elder of the Simpsonville Christian Church and a director of the Bank of Simpsonville. He is a past director of the Shelby County Farm Bureau, the Shelby County Fair and the local Chamber of Commerce and is a former commander of his America Legion post. Farmers Could Increase Income Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 19. — Kentucky has one natural resource which is largely unnoticed and undeveloped—the nut tree.

So says the State Agricultural Development Division, which is endeavoring to create a greater industrial market for the Commonwealth's agricultural output. For this purpose the division, a unit of the Economic Development Department, was created in 1956 by Gov. A. B. Chandler.

Nut trees have played an important role in Kentucky's history, beginning with the first settlers who lived off nut-fattened game and the nut fruit itself, says a booklet published by the division. The publication, "Nut Tree Crops in Kentucky," adds:

Kentucky has much rich hillside land which is classified as wasteland. When this is used for tree nut production, it yields a cash crop and comes under good conservation practices.

If the some 20 million pounds of black walnuts produced in Kentucky each year were harvested, they would return farmers about $1,000,000 in additional income. Nut tree development would add to diversification of agriculture which has raised farm income during recent years. Kentucky's 200,000 farms have an average of six nut trees a farm. If their output was harvested, it would provide farmers with enough income to pay all their county and state real property taxes.

The booklet, available from the department, lists principal users of tree nuts, prices paid, market outlook, growing instructions, and descriptions of the various kinds of nuts produced in Kentucky.

The information was compiled by William L. Wiesman, agricultural economist and assistant director of the division; Thomas Zarger, Tennessee Valley Authority staff forester; Spencer Chase, secretary of the Northern Nut Growers Assn. Knoxville, Tenn.; and W. D. Armstrong, horticulturist, Western Kentucky Experiment Sub-station, Princeton.

Combs Rapps Administration On Food Distribution

Bert Combs, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, said here that the proposal of Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield to expand the distribution of surplus food to needy Kentuckians is "a complete reversal of a callous policy established in 1956 by the present administration."

(Waterfield's proposal was made in a letter to Republican Legislators meeting in Frankfort to consider jobless pay extensions.)

Combs displayed a newspaper clipping of June 28, 1956, which he said, reported that the Chandler-Waterfield administration put a halt to the use of State Highway Department trucks and personnel to distribute such food.

"The administration pleaded economy," Combs said, "yet, Happy and Happy Lee grabbed almost a half-million dollars to redecorate and renovate mansions for themselves in Frankfort. Mansion money alone would have paid for the program for 'four full years.'"

This reversal, he added, again indicates that this administration is bankrupt of any principle or policy. He charged that it will take action only when it suits its political purposes or gain.

Bright Mansions

by Rebecca Jones

I am weary and worn with early care,
But soon I'll be at rest.
Soon, my Lord will call me home,
To be among the blest.

He has prepared a home for me,
A mansion bright and fair.
Where all my trials will be o'er,
No sorrow enters there.

Life has been a struggle here,
A rugged road I have come.
But joy and rest is at the end,
A peaceful, happy home.

I feel so friendless, so alone,
In this vile world of sin.
But Jesus is my friend, I know,
And, soon I'll be with Him.

He said, "I will prepare a place,
Where I am, you shall be".
Bright mansions in the Father's house,
Are now awaiting me.

No profane words or unclean things,
Will cause my tears to flow,
When I reach those mansions bright,
No heartache will I know.

Then hasten on the happy day,
When He shall call my name.
My tired body be returned,
To dust from which it came.

State Kicks-Off Project To Provide Better Hunting In Eastern Kentucky

Kentucky game biologists today kicked off a new project aimed at providing better hunting in the eastern and western sections of the state.

It could mean the establishment of ruffed grouse in widely scattered areas and provide a definite shot-in-the-arm to Kentucky's bird hunting potentialities.

Fred Hardy, leader of the state's forest game research and development project, announced today the start of grouse trapping operations on the Beaver Creek Management Area near Burnside.

The project calls for trapping native birds to later be released on protected areas in Mammoth Cave National Park for study and research purposes. If the birds reproduce successfully there, Division of Game experts anticipate a large-scale program to restock grouse in all suitable habitat in the state.

This attempt will mark the first time native Kentucky grouse have been used in the research and development program.

Biologists "have been working with imported Wisconsin grouse for several years but have found them unsuited to Kentucky's terrain and climate."

"I'm quite frankly optimistic about our chances for success with native birds," Hardy said. "There is every reason to believe they can successfully establish themselves."

Ruffed grouse, considered the top upland game species in many areas of the nation, are now found almost exclusively in eastern Kentucky, primarily in the Cumberland National Forest. Hardy believes they can be spread into sections of the Knobs, the Eastern Coal Fields, and the Pennyrile, as well as into other eastern Kentucky counties.

He pointed out that the program kicked off today is a research program only—designed to determine if native grouse will successfully take in other areas of the state. If the research produces affirmative results, however, a stocking program will follow.

Assuming the project is successful, re-establishment of grouse in depleted areas will be an extremely long process. Only wild, native birds can be used and these birds can be gained only through trapping, which is, at best, a difficult job.

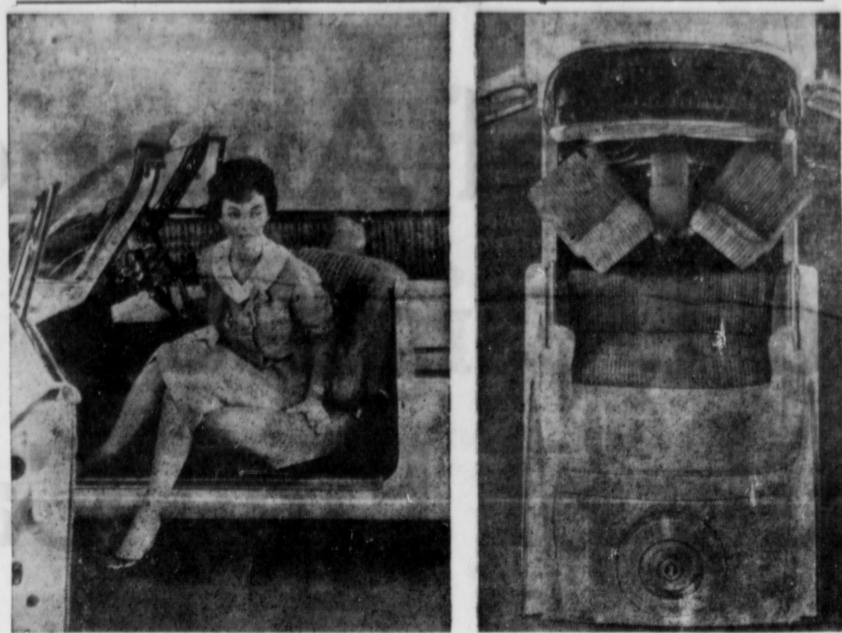

The trapping operations now are underway and will continue until biologists can determine whether or not their research will produce positive or negative results.

Swivel Front Seats on 1959 Plymouth

A major development in automobile seating arrangements is the introduction of swivel front seats in the 1959 Plymouth. Driver and front seat passenger can now pivot the seats outward when entering or leaving the car. Each seat pivots independently of the other. The seats swivel when a lever is lifted in the seat shield, releasing a spring which swings the seat outward on rollers a full 40 degrees. The seats automatically lock in place when returned to normal position. An arm rest between the driver and front seat passenger may be folded back when three persons wish to ride in the front seat.

Needy Persons Will Get More Federal Food

The $7,500 transferred from Governor Chandler's emergency fund to the State Agriculture Department may return Kentucky's needy persons a million dollars worth of federal surplus food.

The department administers the federal program in Kentucky. Program Director Thomas A. Lewis said the $7,500 will be used to employ additional supervisors. He explained that the about of state supervision largely controls the volume of surplus food that a state gets.

Seventy-eight counties participate in the program. It serves 1,400 schools, 228 charitable institutions, 92 summer camps for children and eight child welfare centers. The program benefits some 225,000 needy individuals and about 500,000 adults and children in institutions. Last year $8,000,000 worth of food was distributed.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture makes the regulations and supplies the food from surplus produced by American Farmers.

Food going to institutions is handled directly by the State Agriculture Department. But the program for needy persons is administered locally by the fiscal court, after receiving the food shipped by the State.

Bow and Arrow Deer Opens Nov. 1; Dates For Bucks Are Nov. 27-30

With two of Kentucky's hunting seasons rapidly coming to an end (dove and squirrel) hunters in this state are eyeing the upcoming seasons, the first of which is the bow and arrow deer season which opens on November 1 and continues through November 30 in 31 counties.

However, the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources points out, actually there is a bow and arrow season preceding this one—that for Kentucky Woodlands which opens on October 20 and continues through November 1 except on Sundays during that period. On Kentucky Woodlands one deer, of either sex, whitetail or fallow may be taken by the archers. No gun season is granted for this area.

During the bow and arrow season in the 31 counties either bucks or does may be taken except on the first days of the gun season, which is November 27 through November 30, when only bucks may be killed.

Immediately following the bow and arrow season, the waterfowl season will open on Nov. 7 and continue through Jan. 15 in all areas except on the Ballard County Waterfowl Management Area. There the season opens on November 20 and continues through January 3. The shooting hours for Ballard County are from one-half hour before sunrise until 12 o'clock noon, (CST). On other areas the hunter may take his game from one-half hour before sunrise until sunset.

Robinson Area To Be Opened For Deer Season

The whole of Robinson Forest Management Area, which lies in Knott and Perry counties, will be open for deer hunting, both archery and gun. Minor Clark, commissioner of the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, announced today.

The Robinson tract contains slightly in excess of 10,000 acres and since it is a management area it is marked with signs prohibiting hunting. These signs should be disregarded for deer, Clark pointed out. Other type of hunting is barred on this area and therefore the hunting prohibited signs are necessary.

The archery season will open on November 1 and continue through November 30. Either bucks or does may be taken by the bow and arrow hunters, except on November 27 and 28, when only bucks will be legal. The gun season opens on Nov. 27 and continues through Nov. 30, with bucks only permitted on the first two days (November 27 and 28) and either bucks or does on the final days.

To the Millions of Americans Who Helped Design the 1959 Ford Family of Fine Cars

A message from Henry Ford II, Benson Ford, and William Clay Ford on the philosophy behind Ford Motor Company's 1959 models — soon to be shown by 8,972 dealers all over the country.

FOR 55 years our family has been in the business of making automobiles for the families of America.

First in our grandfather's and our father's time, and now in our own, we've been associated with the evolution of the American car. We've watched our cars and our ways of living change each other.

Through all these years we've tried to learn the simple secret of success in the car business: Give the people what they want.

Of course, when our grandfather decided to find out what people wanted, it wasn't very hard. People wanted low-priced, reliable transportation. You didn't have to do much research to learn all about it.

How things have changed!

Today, people want far more than transportation from their cars. To most of us Americans, the car is a second home.

We are the most mobile people on earth. We live in one place, work in another, send our children to school in a third, and enjoy our recreation in a fourth. We think nothing of going fifty miles to dinner, or across the country on a holiday. Is it any wonder Americans make such great demands upon our cars — or have so many ideas about them?

How do we find out what these people want — and what their ideas are? At Ford Motor Company we consider car-owner research one of our most important assignments. We do our best to find out what you like, why you like it, what you need and want, what you take for granted in a car, and what you don't care about.

We ask questions by mail, in person, and by telephone. We get suggestions from a farmer in Arkansas and a housewife on Long Island, a salesman in Arizona, and an Ohio teenager who just got his driver's license.

A host of new ideas

Our dealers across the country will soon be showing you the completely new 1959 Fords, Edsels, and Mercurys. Together with the improved 1959 Lincolns, Thunderbirds, and Mark IV Continentals, we believe they're the most beautiful cars we've ever made. Their styling is crisp, functional and well proportioned — every line with a purpose.

Our '59 cars are designed around people.

You'll find, for example, such things as wider doors to make our cars easier to get into and out of, even for ladies in the new tighter skirts; more leg room for the person in the middle, with the hump in the floor cut way down; and, you'll find all of our new cars — both V-8's and 6's — are more economical to operate.

You'll notice all kinds of ideas to make riding safer and easier, more comfortable and convenient — from greatly enlarged window areas to bigger luggage compartments.

Never before has our company devoted so much time, thought, effort and money to finding out, and finding the way to give you the things you want in an automobile. And we make a car for every price range, from about $2000 to over $7000. The choice you have is almost unlimited.

6 different makes — 60 different models

In the 1959 Ford Family of Fine Cars, we will offer 6 different makes — the Ford, Thunderbird, Edsel, Mercury, Lincoln, and Mark IV Continental. In these 6 makes you get a total of 60 different cars.

And if that's not enough, you can pick from so many different colors, interiors, trims, and other choices in each model that it takes an electronic brain to count them.

William Clay Ford, Vice President, Product Planning and Styling, works here with Edsel stylist Deno Taglioli on 1962 designs.

We believe you will find, in the 1959 Ford Family of Fine Cars, the car designed for you. In a sense, it was designed by you — designed by you and millions of other Americans.

Speaking for the entire Ford Motor Company — its 273,457 stockholders, its 150,000 employees and its 8,972 dealers all over America — may we invite you to see our new cars before you buy? Watch for announcement dates in your newspaper.

COURIER OF THE EAST KENTUCKY COAL FIELDS

VOLUME 48—NO. 96

HAZARD, PERRY COUNTY, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 16, 1958

COPY—10c

Rayburn Charges Miners Betrayed

E. L. 'Bud' Rayburn, Olive Hill Republican seeking to unseat Democrat Carl Perkins as seventh district Congressman, today charged that Perkins is planning on throwing thousands of Eastern Kentucky miners out of their jobs.

This will be brought about, Rayburn stated, by Perkins' efforts to close down the small mines and truck operators.

"After being elected and re-elected to a total of ten years in Congress by the coal miners, he is going to reward them by helping to do away with their jobs and means of making a living," the Olive Hill candidate told voters in this coal mining district.

Rayburn explained that this to be done by Perkins and UMW leaders in their attempt to force the small mine operator to spend thousands of dollars to comply with Federal Mine regulations that now apply only to large commercial mines.

With unemployment in the mine fields going down ever since he was elected, his efforts will add thousands more to the jobless roles, Rayburn said of Perkins actions. "And in addition, he has done nothing to help bring in new industry to provide employment."

In speaking of UMW endorsement of Perkins, Rayburn said that he noted the Washington date line on the story, indicating that the endorsement was by those people who do not work in the mines but who live from the dues paid by those who do. He added that those union miners who work in small mines are resentful of Perkins attitude toward their jobs and that they plan to protest by their votes.

$6,000 Drive

Boy Scouts

A breakfast Tuesday at the VFW Club for Perry County civic leaders and persons interested in Scouting will kick off the 1958 Boy Scout finance drive here, Robert Dickson, campaign chairman, announced today.

Principal speaker will be Dr. Frank Dickey, President of the University of Kentucky.

Goal for the campaign will be $6,000. All of the money will be spent in support of the Boy Scout movement.

Following the breakfast, solicitors will canvass the town and county for pledges and donations. Dickson said he hopes "90 percent of the campaign can be completed the same day."

The balance of the drive will continue over the next two weeks as workers contact persons missed Tuesday.

The breakfast will begin at 7:30 o'clock. Boy and Cub Scouts will phone guests the morning of the breakfast, inviting them to attend.

Club To Hold Kid's Day Event

Perry County children will have their day this Saturday morning during the annual Hazard Kiwanis Club Kid's Day at Collins Field.

Field events are again planned. Free food and refreshments will be served, Joe Brophy, club chairman, announced.

A new requirement for participating, however, is that children must give their names to their grade school principals between now and Saturday. This is to avoid the confusion, Brophy said, which resulted last year when an exceptionally large number of children participated.

Brophy said the program is open to any child 15 years of age and younger.

Medical Group To Hold Diabetes Drive In County

Dr. K. W. Cameron will direct the 1958 community-wide Diabetes Detection Drive, which will be held during Diabetes Week, Nov. 16-22. The goal of the Drive is to detect the hidden cases of diabetes in Hazard and Perry County and to alert them to the need for immediate medical control.

The appointment of Dr. Cameron as chairman of the drive was announced today by Dr. Charles C. Rutledge, President of the Perry County Medical Society. Dr. Cameron is physician-in-charge at Homeplace Hospital.

In outlining the preliminary plans for the drive, he said that the committee on diabetes would seek the active cooperation of leaders of business, unions, schools, churches and civic organizations in the effort to make available a simple diabetes detection test for every man, woman and child in the community.

He said that Perry County, along with hundreds of other communities throughout the country, was cooperating with the American Diabetes Association in a nationwide effort to detect an estimated one million undiagnosed diabetics.

Early detection and prompt medical control can almost always enable a diabetic to continue to lead a normal life, Dr. Cameron stated. The only consequences to fear are those that result from neglect.

"The only sure way to avoid neglect is to take the detection test," he explained, "for diabetes can often be a hidden ailment which fails to show specific symptoms serious enough to warrant calling a doctor."

He listed the danger signals accompanying diabetes as excessive thirst, excessive urination, loss of weight, intense itching, slow healing of cuts and bruises, excessive hunger, changes of vision, easy tiring, and pain in the extremities.

H.H.S. Drum Major Killed In Plane Crash

A former Hazard High School drum major, Lt. John Howard Frisby, 27, was one of the 18 persons killed on Oct. 2 when a plane crashed near Boise, Ida.

Frisby was a graduate of the local school and Morehead State College.

Funeral services will be held in Junction City (Boyle County), Saturday, at the Junction City Methodist Church with the Rev. Charles Hogg officiating. Burial will be in the Hillcrest Cemetery, Lexington.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Maudine Jones Frisby, a daughter, Patty, 1, three brothers and sisters, and his mother, Mrs. Hazel Frisby, of Junction City.

Frisby was reportedly in the air crash which resulted when a transport plane collided with a flock of geese.

4 Perry Students Injured In Wreck

Four Perry County students received minor injuries when their car left the road on Leatherwood Creek around noon.

The boys were students at Leatherwood High School. They had left the school to eat lunch at a restaurant off the school grounds.

Treated at the Mount Mary Hospital were Delmar Holbrook, 18, and Allin Helton, 16, both of Leatherwood, and Odell Miniard, 18, of Delphia the driver. Released this morning from the Hazard Miner's Memorial following treatment there yesterday for a scalp cut was Glen Creech 17, of Leatherwood.

Helton, Miniard and Creech were treated for minor injuries. The accident occurred after the boys had eaten their lunch. Instead of returning to the high school, they drove down the Leatherwood Creek road.

The following statement was issued this morning by Leatherwood School Principal Bingham Brashear on the accident.

Bingham Brashear, Principal of Leatherwood High School said that the driver of the car, Odell Miniard was not given permission by him to be driving in the area where the accident occurred and by doing so the rules and regulations of the school were disobeyed.

By requests made by the parents of the boys, Mr. Brashear had given the boys permission to drive to Arthur Miniard's Restaurant for lunch. On returning from the restaurant, Miniard drove down Leatherwood Creek where the accident occurred.

Mr. Brashear said that he was thankful that none of the boys were seriously injured.

Lay Week Opens Sunday In Hazard

Five nationally-renowned public figures will be the principal speakers for Laymen's Week in Perry County, being held next week at the First Presbyterian Church.

The speakers are: Dr. Frank Dickey, president, University of Kentucky; Dr. A. A. Page, president, Pikeville College; the Hon. William Murphy, superintendent, Good Samaritan Hospital, Lexington; Leo T. Wolford, Louisville attorney, and U.S. Senator Thruston B. Morton, of Louisville.

The annual program actually commences Sunday when local churches will feature their special speakers for services.

Monday night, Dr. Dickey will talk on "Candles in the Dark." Tuesday, Dr. Page discusses "Training the Christian Citizens." Wednesday, Mr. Murphy talks on "The Truth Will Make You Free." Thursday, Mr. Wolford discusses "While It is Yet Dark," and Friday, Sen. Morton speaks on "Religion in the Advancement of Education." All services will begin at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

City Worker Says He Quit; Changes Story In Interview

Former City employee Merda Bowling was not "fired" from his job, City Manager Hobert Wooten said today.

Bowling, Wooten said, quit when given a choice of working under supervision or quitting after he (Bowling) had been found doing private work while on sick leave from the city and still on the city payroll.

Wooten's comment came in reply to questions asked by a Hazard Herald reporter this morning after the Herald, Wednesday, was given an advertisement by City Commissioner George Feltner. The ad, signed by Bowling, was an appeal for work and included the statement that he had been fired by Wooten. The complete text of the advertisement appears elsewhere in today's paper.

Wooten said Bowling was put on "sick leave" on Oct. 6 by Dr. Eli Boggs and "confined to his home," explaining that he remained on the City payroll. Wooten produced the statement from Dr. Boggs excusing Bowling from working for the city while sick. The statement included the words that Bowling was to be "confined to his home."

The following day, Wooten said, he received a report that Bowling was not at home but was working on private jobs. The next day, Oct. 8, Wooten said he found Bowling working at the Reynolds Artificial Limb Co. on East Main Street.

Wooten said he advised Bowling then that he should report back for work on Oct. 9. When he reported for work that day at the City Water Plant, Bowling, according to Wooten, was told by Public Works Superintendent Roy Sizemore to get in touch with the City Manager.

Wooten said that when Bowling came see him, he (Wooten) explained he could not let city employees work on private jobs while on the City payroll.

Wooten said he told Bowling that he was being placed under the supervision of Sizemore. Previously, Bowling had been his own boss, reporting only to the City Manager.

When told this, Wooten said Bowling replied that he "could not get along with Sizemore" and wouldn't work under him. It was at this point, Wooten said, that Bowling was given the choice of working on Sizemore's crew or "picking up his check."

Wooten said this incident was not the only time when Bowling had been found working on private jobs while on the city payroll during hours set aside for city work.

Bowling, questioned today by the Herald, confirmed all that Wooten said.

Bowling said he was on sick leave, knew that he was on the payroll, and elected to quit when given the choice by the City Manager.

He said the advertisement had been drafted by Commissioner Feltner.

Bowling also said that the stub to his final paycheck bore the notation that he had "voluntarily quit."

Feltner said Bowling came to him Tuesday and told him (Feltner) that he had been "fired" by the City Manager, and wanted Feltner to prepare a statement for him so he could get "more work."

Feltner confirmed that he prepared the ad which appears in today's Herald, but said that he included what Bowling wanted in the text. He returned it to Bowling for his approval and signature and then gave it to the Herald.

Club Asks City For Litter Law

Ordinance Would Impose Fines Of $1 to $5 For Violations

Hazard city officials have been petitioned by the Perry County Garden Club to enact an anti-litter ordinance, and include in it penalties for violators.

The request was made this week in a letter addressed to the "officials of the City of Hazard."

The club, active for years in city beautification, requested:

1. An ordinance which would impose a fine of from $1.00 to $5.00 on each person seen throwing litter on any street, alley, parking lot, park or other public place;

2. Warning signs to be posted in "strategic" places, including Lytle Blvd, the L. & N. Bridge, Baker Avenue, Bridge and the municipal parking lots.

Tourist Influx Noted

The letter also notes:

"The citizens of Hazard have become more conscious of the debris and litter on our streets, in our parking lots and public places since the opening of 'La Citadelle has brought tourists to the city.'"

"The guests have come from practically every state in the United States and ... from Canada."

"The Perry County Garden Club desires to help attract these tourists by trying to get the city clean and keep it clean."

Three Sign Letter

The letter was signed by Mrs. W. W. Reeves, Mrs. Henry Spalding and Mrs. Lee Crutche-field, a committee of the club.

Jaycees Endorse Sewer Bond Issue

Perry County Jaycees last night voted endorsement of the Sewer Bond issue for Hazard, following a brief explanation by City Manager Hobert Wooten.

To be voted upon in November by city residents, the bond issue, if approved, paves the way financially for the city's first sewer plant.

In other business, the club referred to committee plans for taking over the Salvation Army solicitation and charity functions for Christmas.

McKinley Combs, Landowner, Dies

McKinley Combs died sometime last night at his home in Lothair, the Engle Funeral Home reported today.

Details of his death were not known. Combs, a spokesman for the funeral home said, apparently died during the night.

Members of the family were not available this morning. Details of the funeral are not known.

Cause of death was not known when the Herald went to press.

City Manager Blushes

Wooten Praised

City Manager Hobert Wooten was left blushing last night!

Wooten during the meeting of city and county officials with members of the Eastern Kentucky Development Tour was singled out for high praise by Walter Keyes, of the Federal Home and Housing Administration, Atlanta, Ga.

Keyes singled out Wooten as being instrumental in Hazard having one of the finest Urban Renewal projects in the nation. He said the city is the only one in Kentucky which has taken advantage of the Urban Renewal program.

Development Tour Members Say: "We Want To Help You"

Through mountains spectacular in blazing autumn color, Government and industrial leaders on the Eastern Kentucky development tour arrived in Hazard to spend Wednesday night at La Citadelle.

On the way from Harlan, where the tour group spent Tuesday night, the tour bus passed through the captive-mine towns of Bthman and Lynch, pausing for a midmorning coffee break at Cumberland and for lunch on the crest of 2,600-foot Pine Mountain.

The South-East Coal Company was host for luncheon at the company lodge on the mountop.

View Strip Mine

Stopping in a region of despollation in Harlan County, the tourists saw a strip-mining operation that had produced 1,500 tons of coal the previous day. But it made no favorable impression on the Government conservationists on the tour. Yet it was a fantastic sight, like a trip to the moon.

The United States Steel Company, which is stripping the project, has 43,000 acres, including 60 coal seams, in the striping operation and a 10-year coal reserve.

On the way to Hazard in the afternoon the group stopped at Whitesburg for an inspection of the modernistic Miners' Memorial Hospital, and toured the town of Jenkins, model mining town serving as headquarters of the Bethlehem Mining Company.

'We Want To Help You'

The traveling group Tuesday night heard True D. Morse, undersecretary of agriculture, at a dinner in Harlan. Another speaker there was Senator John Sheman Cooper of Somerset.

Morse handed out a bit of encouragement to Eastern Kentucky. He declared, "When you decide what you want to do, be assured that we want to help you."

He urged the mountain farmers to make their farms more productive and prosper on a live-at-home program. Continuing

"in the agricultural field, you can do much to improve your economy." Then he said, "Your forests are a tremendous resource in Eastern Kentucky" and urged the area people to "make your town attractive. Having looked the mountains over he grinned and said, "This is a wonderful place to retire to."

Urges People To Aid

Senator Cooper explained that the purpose of the tour is "dedicated to new industry." The Federal Government, he said, can help along this line and so can the State Government, but in the final analysis "It's mostly up to the fight of the local people."

New industries, Cooper said, are not coming into places that are flooded each year. He was referring to the Big Sandy. He said there must be flood protection at Pound, Va.; Fishtap, in Pike County, and along the Cumberland River.

"Keep pushing," Cooper said to the Eastern Kentuckians present, "and don't lose heart."

H. Nick Johnson was toastmaster at the Harlan banquet.

Bragging a bit, he told the tourists, "We have the brains of our nation here."

The tourists could hardly believe what they saw when the bus pulled up at La Citadelle, a luxury resort motel on top of Peter's Peak near Hazard. After dinner, the tourists took part in a "round-robin" session with just about everybody taking part.

The tour will end Thursday afternoon at Paintsville.

When the bus stopped at mid-afternoon at Whitesburg, the high-school band gave a lively concert, after which George W. Hubley, State commissioner of economic development, made a brief address.

At Hazard, Congressman Carl D. Perkins of the Seventh District told the group that "we must have area development because of the high unemployment rate." He said the area needs farm diversification, flood-control projects, and more school building.

COUNTY AGENT'S NOTES

Get Strawberry Mulch Material Early

Paul Keen, County Agricultural Extension Agent

John Caudill, Associate County Agricultural Extension Agent

Winter protection for the strawberry field is most essential. Unmulched plants may be seriously damaged by heaving, and the crowns may be injured by real cold weather. Wheat straw is the most preferred mulch material, although other materials may be used.

Straw should be scattered at the rate of 1½ to 2 tons per acre. A mulch is useful in several ways. It retards strawberry plants from growing during early spring, thus protecting blooms from spring frosts. It also aids in controlling weed growth, conserves moisture, makes picking more pleasant and keeps fruit clean.

Straw should be gotten now so that it will be on hand when it is needed, and, it is very important that straw be piled loosely in the field so that weed and grain seeds may germinate and thus save trouble in the spring.

Act now to have more and better quality berries next spring.

Storage Room

Do you have adequate storage facilities for the family food supply?

Following are essentials of a good storage room according to Mr. Jesse B. Brooks, Agricultural Engineer, University of Kentucky.

1. The storage room should be large enough to store a year's supply of food for the family. A 10 x 12 foot room is large enough for the average family.

2. The storage space should be as close as possible to the kitchen, for convenience.

3. An adequate ventilation system, including air inlet and outlet should be provided for removing odors, regulating temperature, and controlling moisture. The vent openings should have an area of 1 square inch for each square foot of floor space in the room.

4. Floor drainage should be provided if there is danger of water rising in the room.

5. The room should be deep enough in the ground or banked with enough soil or other wise insulated to prevent freezing inside.

6. Slatted floor, bins and crates assure better air circulation throughout the storage room. Shelves should be provided for canned foods.

7. If a trap-door leading to the basement or cellar storage must be used, it should have proper railing to prevent accidents. Plan the entrance carefully and avoid steep, narrow steps.

BLUE GRASS

Saturday Was Appreciation Day

John Smedley

Well, we sure have had another busy week in Hazard. We've had school teachers from Breathitt, Knott, Leslie, and other surrounding counties, Thursday and Friday the 9th and 10th. It looked as if we had more teachers than students.

Senators Cooper and Morton were in Hazard Saturday, the 11th of October and the day was proclaimed "Appreciation Day" and I think everyone enjoyed their speeches, I know I did. There was a large crowd, and there were five school bands which would make Uncle Sam's Army, set up and take notice. Boy, believe me, they were the best. Whitesburg, M. C. Napier, Hazard High and Breathitt. While listening to the speeches by our Senators, I looked around and saw Fred W. Luigart Jr., managing editor of The Herald, really going to town with his pencil, and some other newsmen I suppose, because he was writing up a storm too. Well, I would have asked who he was, but I was afraid he might ask for my autograph.

Shopping today in our city of around 7,000 population was Mr. Granville Begley of Blue Diamond and president of Local Union No. 5911.

Also shopping was Mrs. Chalmer Lindon of Blue Diamond. Mr. Linnon is with the New York Life Insurance Company and is a brother to S. H. Lindon of Walkertown, who is in the Coal business.

One fellow got in such a habit sitting on those benches that were in the Court house lobby, that he sits down in the floor before he noticed they were gone, then he said this might be appreciation day, but I don't appreciate this fountain being dry. I hope these things are taken care of before it gets in the papers.

Senator Cooper said in his speech that there was a big Bull running a man one time and the man saw a tree just ahead with a limb about twelve feet from the ground. The man said, I hope I can make that limb. He missed the limb, on the way up, but he caught it on the way down. That's a fine way to catch Lumbago in the lower extremities.
